tions and as President of the Alpha Sigma Society.

At the banquet given June 6 he the Faculty to the graduates, his untiring efforts were rewarded by the Alpha Sigma Society Award, and then he was especially honored by receiving the award of the American Institute of Chemists presented by Dr. Joseph W. In the past he has been spending his summers with the Shull Lumber Company, Bala-Cynwyd. This vacation period will be used in getting some practical chemistry. New laurels will be sought next year at the University of Pennsylvania, with part of his time on the Faculty of his Alma Mater.

More news of the graduates will appear in next week's OUR TOWN.

Narberth Plays

Penn A. C. and Angora This Week-End.

In contrast to other seasons, Narberth's ball club is fighting to keep its collective head above water these days. Gene Davis' defending champions still are buried deep in the standings after a mediocre showing last week-end when the bill was split.

Borough fans are anxious to forget that nightmare at Gladwyne when their favorites were walloped to the tune of 14-7, a game in which the Davismen were guilty of five errors. Narberth collected plenty of hits, 13 to Gladwyne's 14, but gave an all-around terrible performance for defending champions. It was Gladwyne's second straight win over the champs.

Adding pain to the defeat was the fact that a lad who formerly played for Narberth and is a borough resident, led the massacre for the winners. He is Howard (Ock) Smith, former Lower Merion High ace, who hurled the Maroon to its lone championship in 1933. Smith blasted five hits in as many times to the plate and one of them went for three bases. Manager Davis sent no less than four pitchers to the mound in an attempt to stop Smith and his mates.

Looking at the bright side, Harry Fox had two doubles and Tanny Ralston, Roger Malseed and Jack Eachus each boasted a two-bagger. Claude Bailey contributed three safeties.

Sunday, Narberth was on the rebound, but had a lot of trouble beating a young and peppery Drexel Hill outfit, 4-3 here. Three runs in the seventh settled it. George Gazella and Bailey walked. Malseed grounded out to third and Buddy Walker was passed intentionally. Fox then slapped a single to send in two runs and Nickie Myers later drove home what proved the winning marker. Narberth's other run was scored in the sixth, while Drexel Hill tallied single ones in the fourth, seventh and ninth.

Al Herrmann went the full distance on the mound for the Davismen, striking out four, walking the same and giving up five hits. Narberth got nine as Ralston and Fox banged out two apiece and Eachus blasted one for three bases.

Narberth opened its twilight season in grand style Tuesday night when Philadelphia Redmen were scalped, 5-1. Bill Reynolds, who was out last season because of a serious operation, returned to show fine form. He struck out seven, but what was even more impressive the gray-haired veteran socked four hits in as many trips to the plate.

The Davis tossers have an open date in the league tomorrow and will take on Penn A. C. here. Sunday they are slated to clash with Angora in a league fray on the local diamond.

The Travel Club

Of the Narberth Community Library

Will embark on its 1938 world journeys this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

All boys and girls of the community who have completed any of the grades 1 to 7 are invited to join.

A 2c membership fee is charged each member when he registers. At that time he receives a passport and a map of the world on which to record his journeys. The map is colored with crayons and kept in the library.

Every member who reads five books about five different countries will receive a reading club button. Ten books read entitles him to a certificate, and the Narberth Parent-Teachers' Association co-operates with the club by offering a book as a prize to one person in each grade group. Certificates and prizes are not awarded until the Book Week meeting of the Narberth Parent-Teachers' Association.

Robin Hood Dell

Season begins in Fairmount Park next Thursday night, with music by Strauss, and Brahms' first symphony, directed by Eugene Ormandy. Friday, Alexander Smallens will play the Rimsky-Korsakov's "Scheherazade" and Strawinsky's "Fire Bird," and Jeannette Savran will play the Tchaikowsky Concerto for piano and orchestra. Following regular policy, operas and ballets will be given Mondays and Tuesdays, with soloists either Thursday, Friday or Saturday; and most Wednesdays and Sundays are reserved for repeat performances in the event of rain.

A Summer Bible

School—Its Second—Will be Conducted

By the Presbyterian Church from June 20 to July 1. Classes will be offered to all children of the borough whose ages are from 5 to 13. While the school is conducted by the Presbyterian Church, it is not denominational in its program and material. The curriculum will be that which is prepared by the Summer Bible School Association.

The school will be open 8.30 to 11.30. Classes are planned in such a way as to give semi-personal instruction to all of the children according to their age groups. Mrs. Archer Anderson will be the principal. The department superintendents are: Miss Ruth Woolmington, beginners; Miss Kay Lukens, primary, and Mrs. C. H. Woolmington, juniors. Mrs. H. C. Hebsacker will serve as secretary. A large staff of volunteer workers will comprise the teaching force. No registration fee will be charged. Parents are invited to send their children. Classes will be held daily except Saturday.

The Presbyterian Church will hold its annual picnic this Saturday at Memorial Park, Schwenksville. All members of the Bible School and the congregation and friends are invited. Transportation will be provided for those who do not have a way to go. Cars and the bus will leave from the church at 9.30 A. M. A very interesting program of games and picnic activities has been planned. Basket lunch will be the order of the day.

Dr. Anderson will leave Sunday night after the evening service for Hardy, Arkansas, where he will teach in the Ozark Bible conference. He will be gone ten days.

Narberth School

On June 10, the seventh and eighth grade girls gave a fashion show, fashioning the things that were made in the home economics classes under Miss Taylor's supervision. The seventh grade girls wore pajamas and the eighth grade wore dresses and house coats.

After the fashion show, awards were made to help shorten the next week's program. The first awards were major letter "N's" to all eighth grade girls participating in hockey, basketball, and baseball. They had to be there every game and had to show good sportsmanship. The "Reds" that received letters were Edna Andrew, Alyce Cook, Nellie Curran, Jane Nulty, Kathryn Ridge, Edith Mariana, Mary Lazerini, and Reba Hutton. Among the "Greys" were Peggy Aul, Sue Austin, Katrina Hoyt, Eleanor Haywood, Dixon Doughten, Betty Hollar, Mina Mesticelli, Mary Cappelli, Barbara Smedley, Elaine Starr, Mary Scorzetti, and Claire Robinson.

Since the boys' baseball season was interrupted by the pageant, letters were not given to the boys but honorable mention was given to them. The nine boys were: Henry Spinelli, Harry Middleton, Frank Mariana, Jim Pruitt, Justin Casanecchia, Bob Tabor, Harry Keenan, Bob Phillips and Greer Heindel.

Mr. Lehman made the Press Club awards. Edward Miller, the Sun Dial editor, received a gold star. The rest of the club received red stars or a new shield. They are: Warren Vincent, Tom Butler, Virginia Durbin, Phoebe Jane Ezickson, Lois Schenck, Bob Phillips, Eleanor Haywood, Betty Schellenstrager, Elaine Starr, Barbara Smedley, Richard Bossone, Betty Hollar, Bob Tabor, Bill Kairer, and Jim Hutton.

Miss Fricke presented the awards to the orchestra: George Woodrow, Dick Whiting, Fred Kuebler, Warren Vincent, Edna Andrew, Claire DeHart, Eleanor Haywood, Reba Hutton, Mary Jo Dunnington, Lillian Anderson, William Thompson, Eleanor Stam, Carlo Mariani, Johanne Whiting, James McQuiston, Tom Butler, Tom Henry, Henry Frye, Margaret Deer.

Miss Fricke also presented awards to members of the Glee Club: Peggy Aul, Nancy Aul, Mary Jo Dunnington, Gloria Civitello, Harriet Nold, Mary Steinkomph, Connie Souder, Jane Robertson, Jane Nulty, Carol Schroder, Kathryn Ridge, Eleanor Stam, Mary Fennimore, Jane Bennett and Mary McNeil.

Fireworks on the Fourth..

The archives turn up the fact that Philadelphia's first celebration of Independence Day (which would make it 1777) had chiefly to do with fireworks, and so the popular pyrotechnics have had quite a hallowed and lustrious association with the nation's natal day.

The tomes set forth that the prolific shooting was done on the "Commons," a term frequent enough in Yankee Colonial lore (and to this day), but where would you say the "Commons" were in Philadelphia at the time our country was severing its ties from Europe?

Narberth's annual display serves many purposes and not the least of them is the real safety and economy which fond parents can effect by providing their progeny with a wonderful show without the risk of burns or blisters, not to mention more serious hazards, and that feature of the case ought to induce quick and generous contributions from the numerous households hereabouts where children so fortunately abound.

To those of us who accept the collection of the fund year after year as a civic task which should not be avoided, there comes an increasing realization that to let the idea slip into limbo would only help case-harden the very circumscribed mold into which American life at large is too rapidly finding its way. That might seem awfully profound when we are talking about dough for a show, but we are impressed, with the confusing scene all about us, that every possible opportunity should be utilized to restore "community" to those aggregates of population which we call cities, towns and townships, and which too frequently we mistake for communities, a general situation which is contributing to the present havoc in a very considerable way, and no doubt about it.

Narberth Planning

Commission Gains and Loses a Member.

Resignation of Ralph S. Dunne, secretary, was announced by Burgess Frank A. Schrepfer at Borough Council meeting Monday night. The Business Council president gave up his duties because of the press of his other work.

To succeed him for the five-year term to which he was appointed February of this year, Clarence H. Woolmington was nominated by the burgess, with council's confirmation. Mr. Woolmington, an architect, lives at 23 Narbrook Park, and is considered excellently qualified to serve the best interests of the borough.

The Planning Commission, of which B. G. Simpson is chairman, and Walter O'Sullivan, William H. Durbin and J. J. Cabrey are the other original members, is planning a traffic survey of the business section. And a letter from Mr. Simpson was read, suggesting an architect pass on all plans for new buildings and alterations, especially in the business section, to promote architectural harmony.

Five bids, for construction of sanitary sewers on Woodside and Grayling avenues, were opened and referred to Walter A. Fox' committee, with action to be taken by council this Thursday at an adjourned meeting.

Council approved sending Burgess Schrepfer and Solicitor Henry A. Frye to the convention of the State Association of Boroughs, at Erie, next week.

Roland Fleer, public safety chairman, reported Patrolman Brady Utz has requested transfer to the Lower Merion police because his duties as a crack member of the police pistol team require him frequently to be absent from the borough. Someone will be selected soon to fill his place.

The salary of George B. Suplee, superintendent of public works, was put at $3300.

On motion of Finance Chairman Clarence Kaerber, exterior painting was authorized of the borough's building at Conway and Haverford, the new headquarters for the Child Health Center.

It was reported that complaints about the manner of garbage collection, referred to Mr. Suplee, led to his threatening the hauling contractor with reduced pay unless service is improved.

Superintendent Suplee's building report for May was read, showing $7614 in new permits issued: George Super, 1256 Montgomery, $250 new roof; S. D. Nicholas, 18 Elmwood, $95 enclosure; Dr. Wright, 310 Chestnut, $1500 fire damage repaired; W. W. Donohue, 4 Narbrook Park, $5400 house; Mabel Fritsch, 326 Merion, $369 roof.

Automobile traffic violations reported were 72, including 68 parking, including 45 all-night parking.

Bridge walls at Elmwood and Wynnewood have been fixed, and repairs were approved next for the bridge wall at Wynnewood avenue at the property of Lakeview Apartments.

Firemen and Police

Of Lower Merion and Narberth gave a demonstration of their improved ability in fire-fighting and law-enforcement, Wednesday evening on Rittenhouse place, Ardmore, before a large gallery that included officialdom of the town and township. G-man methods and jiu-jitsu are part of the new bag of tricks of the police force, which is being rejuvenated under Captain Samuel W. Gearhart, with a new system of training, discipline and pay.

KENNETH E. SHULL

(This is the first of a series of articles to be resumed in TOWN AND TOWNSHIP in September. Your comment is invited. . . .)

Since time immemorial man has persistently searched for the elixir of life. This desire to remain young is still with us today, and it has caused many a woman to remain in her twenties for more than a decade. Good news was offered recently by Dr. James Kendall, who suggested that the "age of youth" may be increased by slowing down one's chemical reactions with generous use of heavy water.

Some time ago Kalendarov, a Russian biologist, found that electricity can be successfully used as a cure for sleeplessness. His method consists in applying an electric current to living nerves. As a result they become deadened, and the patient is soon wrapped in the arms of Morpheus. Several Russian hospitals are trying this form of treatment at the present time.

Although the method may sound new, it must be remembered that several "Institutions" in our own country have, for many years, been using electricity as a lasting soporific. Just recall the successful experiments performed at Sing Sing!

The gentleman who wrote "Stormy Weather" certainly knew what he was talking about. Statistics show that our earth is simply showered with storms. During one year there occur about 16,000,000 of the thunder variety. This, reduced to more simple figures, amounts to 44,000 each day or 2,000 each second.

There are many pet sayings in circulation which purport to be humorous, and yet which connote something of real value. One expression in particular has found application by certain manufacturers of dentifrices: "Don't be false to your teeth or they will be false to you."

The truth of the statement itself is shown by a recent survey which revealed the astonishing fact that there are within the portals of the United States at least 10,000,000 persons who daily go through the routine mastication of food with a set of false teeth.

A Tribute . . .

I've built a tribute o'er this place,
Where dwell the names that are my race.
In endless honor, timeless grace,
I have remembered them.

I've crowned this quiet place with art,
To set their hallowed sleep apart,
With love . . . to live beyond my heart,
I have remembered them.

I've marked this place that they be known;
That silence need not watch alone,
With mem'ries shined in votive stone,
I have remembered them.
